Congress Approves Large Tax Credit for Installed Insulation

Congress has just approved the 2009 economic stimulus bill ("The American Recovery and Reinvestment Act") which includes an extension and expansion of the existing federal tax credit for installed insulation. The federal tax credit for installing insulation in 2009 is 30% (previously 10%) of the purchase price up to a $1500 tax credit 2009. A consumer can save as much as $1500 from the purchase price when adding insulation to their existing home.
